

Hello,

Merry Christmas and Happy New year to all!

As we say good by to 2019 and hello to 2020 and another year of flying, I hope you all received all the great RC gifts you wanted.

Our New Years Fun fly will be here soon and it looks like we may have one of the least amount of snow years for as far as I can remember! I hope everyone can attend.

Last meeting, we had our election of officers, and I know this might be a big surprise to everyone but all the positions stayed the same for one more year. There was some discussions of moving or replacing some spots..... ok no, there was not. It was unanimous, but I am ok with that! As your president for 2020 I would like to continue building up this club with the camaraderie of members that we have and adding to the core of people that help make this club what it is. I would also love to see more of you at our events, and we have limited it to just a couple a year because I know summer is busy, but the events are not as much fun or as successful without you.

I am so proud of what we have accomplished over the years, and so happy to be a part of it.

See you New Years Day, no matter what the weather!

Gallatin Eagles Upcoming Events:

January:

1, New Years Day Fun Fly, 10:00 AM at the field! Come prove you're an all weather pilot!

14, Tuesday, Meeting at church. 7:15 PM Methodist Church, corner of Willson and Olive. Use alley side entrance, we meet in basement. Bring something for 'show and tell' or 'swap and sell'!

For more information on club events see our website: gallatineagles.org/calendar

Runway Condition

As of Saturday evening, our runway had about 1-2" of snow on it, which could easily be cleared with a snow blower or an ATV with a plow, according to Brian Westberg. With little snow in the forecast, we should be able to use wheeled aircraft, or skis/ floats on the snow adjacent to the runway!

. . . I'm getting updates from Destry and Brian as I get the newsletter together, as of Sunday afternoon Destry plowed our runway (photo next page) and I've heard Andy Thompson will do it Tuesday afternoon. The weather outlook, aside from light snowfall (1-2") is pretty good! Wednesday should be in the mid 30's or better.

Hot Chocolate

The annual new years day fun fly is upon us! I'll be there with hot chocolate and we'll have chili too.

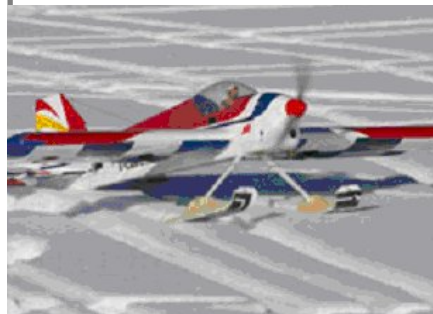

If anyone needs an airplane carrying van, my white one is for sale. It runs good, has been well maintained but has lots of miles. I'm asking $600 but would take less. It's a 2003 Dodge Caravan.

See you all at the field on Jan 1.

Don't miss the New Year's Day Fly In! The weather forecast is for partly sunny and 37 degrees Bring your planes with skis or hand toss them. Skis are a blast. The snow can be so smooth and level. Try counting the number of prop strikes in the snow. One strike is not the idea. We will start about 10:00 and go until your feet are frozen.

See you Wednesday.

Fly safe,
Larry Nelson
